

Mary – from Moving Ideas by F. Salerno

Very soon she was widowed by the king of France Louis XII and married the English Charles Brandon. By her brother Henry VIII's will, the throne had to pass to English descendants and not to foreigners, so Mary's descendants were welcomed but Margaret's weren't. Obviously not only because Mary was Henry VIII's favourite sister: he didn't want a Scottish monarch to reign on England!