

Indefinite Pronouns

Indefinite pronouns don't point to particular nouns. We use them when an object doesn't need to be specifically identified. As such, it can remain indefinite. They include:

- few
- everyone
- all
- some
- anything
- nobody

For example:

- Most wealth is held by a select few.
- Everyone is here already.
- I don't have any paper napkins. Can you bring some?
- He's nobody.
